President Leads New Deal Drive In Stirring Talk

Real Issue of Campaign is Right of Every Person to Live Finer, Better, Happier Life, He Tells Jackson Day Diners Throughout Nation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(UP)—No doubt remained today that President Roosevelt plans to lead a forceful, aggressive campaign to confirm the New Deal in power at the polls next November. For the second time in less than a week, the chief executive last night struck at enemies of his administration with unequivocal epithet and stinging analogy.

His speech to the $50 a plate Jackson Day diners officially opened the Democratic side of the 1936 campaign, though it was his fourth public justification of New Deal measures in recent months. His first was at Atlanta, the

CHICAGO TO WIN BIG CONVENTION

Reports Current in Capital; Talmadge Hits Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(UP)—Reports circulated among members that "it is all fixed for Chicago" as the Democratic National committee convention. Philadelphia and Chicago are the chief contenders for the meeting.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(UP)—Governor Eugene Talmadge of Georgia appeared today at the convention-selection meeting of the Democratic National committee and with a single word opened his campaign to prevent reelection of President Roosevelt.

Talmadge uttered a firm and distinct "no" against a resolution by which the committee endorsed the Roosevelt New Deal. The approving resolution was offered by Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City and was seconded by Sen. Kenneth McKellar, D., Tenn.

Norris was urged to use what influence he had to urge Senator Robert Bulkley to support the measure. Senator A. Vic Donahy was declared in favor of payment.

PRESIDENT, WIFE FETE HIGH TRIBUNAL JUDGES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(UP)—President and Mrs. Roosevelt tonight will be hosts to the Supreme court of the United States at the annual judicial reception.

The court, which this week in a 6-3 decision tossed out one of Mr. Roosevelt's prime recovery programs, will be honor guests at the reception which will be attended by several hundred persons. It will be held in the east room of the White House.

LEADERS CALLED TO REVIVE AAA

President Again Declares "Justice" is Objective

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(UP)—The New Deal marshalled its strongest forces today to salvage the shattered AAA and to meet threats of controversy this week-end when farm leaders offer their plans for the future of American agriculture.

President Roosevelt, echoing his declaration that "justice and prosperity" for agriculture remains a constant objective, called Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and a half a dozen other leaders back to the White work on the problem created by the Supreme Court's invalidation of AAA.

Included in the White House were such figures as Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, Chester Davis, AAA administrator, Daniel W. Bell, acting budget director, and Herman Oliphant, special treasury adviser.

Meantime, Congress labored over proposed substitutes for the destroyed farm measure and it was believed a tentative program for immediate action would be presented to the 100 farm representatives to meet here tomorrow and Saturday.

The administration guarded against efforts of its foes to start refusing to invite representatives controversy at the session by one anti-new deal farm group and by arranging for closed sessions.

GILBERT, FAMED STAR OF SCREEN, STRICKEN, DIES

Heart Attack Fatal to Popular Idol of Silent Pictures in Hollywood Home

ALL FACTS UNKNOWN

Actor Gained Greatest Reputation Appearing in Pictures Opposite Greta Garbo

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 9.—John Gilbert, famous screen star in the silent picture era, died Thursday after a heart attack.

The fire department announced it had been called to send an inhalator to the actor's home on Power Grove road at 9 a. m. (noon Circleville time) but that Gilbert was dead when it arrived.

Circumstances of the death were withheld by friends of the actor. He had been ill since Christmas and was confined to his bed most of the time. A nurse was with him this morning when he suffered the fatal attack.

The nurse called servants, who then summoned the firemen.

Two or three previous heart attacks had weakened Gilbert, according to his attorney, P. H. Moore.

John Gilbert was born in Logan, Utah, July 10, 1897, and his real name was Jack Pringle. Some of his best known pictures were "Apostle of Vengeance," "Heart of the Hills," "The Count of Monte Cristo," "He Who Gets Slapped," "The Merry Widow," "The Big Parade," "Flesh and the Devil," "Four Walls," "A Woman of Affairs," "Desert Nights," "The Hollywood Revue," "Redemption," "Way for a Sailor," "Phantom of Paris," "Downstairs," "Fast Workers," and "Queen Christina."

His greatest roles were opposite the glamorous Greta Garbo.

According to police, Deckard had been seen with the two men in several beer parlors the night he was killed. His body was found in a ditch on a lonely road. He had been robbed.

FARM AND CAPITOL ECHO AAA RULING

Writers Hears Views of Agriculture on Decision Some Critics Say Care Might Have Saved Law

EDITORS: A special dispatch from Charles P. Stewart, Washington correspondent, is presented here in view of the intense interest in agriculture's predicament since the outlawing of the AAA.

By KEN WOODMAN

NAPOLEON, O., Jan. 9.—Clashing echoes of the supreme court decision junking the AAA reverberated in this farming community today, as much as in thousands of others throughout the country. Farmers talked busily in the corridors of the courthouse where the January term of court is in progress.

A neatly dressed man who cultivates several hundred acres of rich soil in a nearby township declared:

"Temporary chaos will result naturally from the abandonment of the AAA. Prices will jump around considerably. Not only farm prices and retail commodity which affect us especially, but also stock market quotations will act dizzy until the country finds where it stands.

"However, on the whole, I'm glad it happened. It's a good thing. I honestly think that the pump has been primed and that all business, including that of farming, will show steady improvement just as soon as things settle down. Further regulation would have been harmful. We are ready to enter normal channels of recovery."

AAA RELIEF

TO LITTLE FELLOWS

A short man in clean work clothes who had been leaning against the corridor wall turned and spoke quietly:

"It's all very well for you to say that. You run a big farm and could possibly have got along without any regulations, as you call it, whatsoever. But I have only 40 acres and to us little fellows the AAA was not so much regulation as it was downright relief at a time when we were on our backs being gouged by finance companies with cattle mortgages on one hand and by ridiculous prices and a farm surplus on the other hand. Corn, wheat and hog contract payments from the federal government were just so much gravy to you."

The wealthier man smiled. "I will admit that," he said.

"But those payments were not gravy to us," the other continued. They were warm-welcomed cash in the hour when cash was what we needed most. They helped us buy clothing, seed and badly needed equipment."

The bailiff, who had come out of the courtroom with a glass in his hand to get water for the court, interposed a word of banter. "Aw, it's all politics," he said, joy.

DEATH INQUIRY CONTINUES

COLUMBUS, Jan. 9.—(UP)—Authorities today continued their investigation of the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harrison, whose bodies were found in their home here. They apparently died 10 days ago.

Coroner E. E. Smith, after an autopsy, said he believed the couple died of natural causes. However, police said there was evidence of a murder and suicide.

Neighbors told officers the Harrisons had quarreled frequently.

Barnhart Becomes Clerk

The city Board of Education held its second organization meeting of the year Wednesday morning and named C. R. Barnhart as clerk to succeed Mrs. Lillian W. Moore, elected Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Moore asked to be relieved of the position because of the vast amount of accounting required. She explained she felt someone experienced in that type of work should hold the position. The clerk position is the only salaried job on the board. This position was formerly held by Robert G. Colville, now county treasurer.

Lawrence E. Goeller was elected as vice president, the position

His Vote Decides

THE ballot of Herbert S. Bigelow, leader of Rev. Charles E. Coughlin's forces in Cincinnati, decided a bitter mayor's race. Bigelow, who refused to break a 4-4 tie between Charterists and Republicans, cast his vote for himself for mayor until at the last minute he supported Russell Wilson incumbent. In a trade for Bigelow's vote he was named chairman of the utilities committee. Bigelow is a bitter foe of the utility interests. Cincinnati has a city manager form of government.

U. S. CONSULATE GUARDS ADDED

Italy Ends Two-Day Newspaper Drive Against Uncle Sam

ROME, Jan. 9.—(UP)—The police guard at the American embassy and consulate was strengthened today after a two-day campaign of attack on President Roosevelt's message to congress.

Eight men, instead of the usual two, patrolled before the building. It was said the increase was precautionary.

There had been no demonstrations, however, and authorities said they expected none.

Normally two carabinieri patrol the embassy area. Today there were six, in addition to two metropolitan policemen on bicycles.

President Roosevelt delivered his message to congress Friday night. The campaign of attack on his criticism of dictatorial and warlike nations opened here in the afternoon newspapers on Monday, and it was said officially that the government's reaction to the message was not favorable.

As the attack opened, the United Press was able to reveal on unimpeachable authority that orders were given to publishers to continue it for two days—Monday and Tuesday. According to plan, the newspapers stopped the attacks yesterday.

The general feeling in Italy seems to be friendly to the United States. Terms of the proposed American neutrality bill were received favorably.

1,000 HOGS BRING STRONG PRICE AT LIVESTOCK SALES

The AAA decision, causing a boost in market prices, resulted in Pickaway-co farmers sending 1,000 hogs through the local livestock sale Wednesday afternoon.

Good to choice hogs ranging from 180 to 250 pounds sold from $9.95 to $10.05. The prices were approximately 15 cents lower than Tuesday's quotation. The top price on last week's sale was $9.95. Cattle receipts totalled 227 head. No choice cattle was sold, medium to good grade ranged from $7.20 to $8.15. Fifty-one head of calves and 35 head of sheep were sold.

RULES CHAIRMAN CALLS MEASURE BEFORE SOLONS

Debate Limited to Four Hours; Backers Move to Defeat Any Amendments

GREAT MARGIN EXPECTED

Right-of-Way Given Over Office Money Question; Galleries Filled

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(UP)—The $3,500,000,000 soldiers' bonus issue was thrust once again before the House for action today when Rules Committee Chairman John J. O'Connor, D., N. Y., called up the rule for consideration of the United Front veterans' bill.

Under the rule, which faced little opposition, debate on the bill was limited to four hours and offering of amendments was not restricted.

Backed by a powerful consolidation of bonus factions, the bill, estimated by its supporters to require a $1,100,000,000 outlay of new cash, probably will be approved overwhelmingly tomorrow and rushed to the Senate for action.

About 100 in Seats

Only about 100 members were in their seats when Speaker Joseph W. Byrns called the House to order.

The galleries, however, were almost full. Most of the spectators were veterans and their families.

The bonus issue was given right-of-way over the $875,000,000 executive and legislative offices appropriation bill for the 1937 fiscal year, which was debated on the floor yesterday but whose passage was delayed for the bonus.

Despite agreement of warring House bonus factions, the bill is an almost certain target for many amendments. Leaders believe most of them will be rejected. Republicans are expected to seek restriction on the method by which the bonus may be paid.

Advocates claim that the bill reduces in half the total immediate cost of the bonus payment over any other previous measure. They said that it will mean an outlay of cash around $1,100,000,000 (B) aside from funds available already.

Rep. Vito Marcantonio, R., N. Y., a leader of the House liberal bloc, plans to offer an amendment preventing removal of veterans from federal relief rolls after they have cashed their certificates.

The bill sponsored by Representatives Fred M. Vinson, D., Ky., and John McCormack, D., Mass., and Wright Patman, D., Tex., author of the bill to pay the bonus through issuance of $2,200,000,000 in "Greenbacks".

Fight Amendments

This powerful trio reached an agreement to vote down any amendment not sponsored by the House ways and means committee, thus assuring passage of the bill almost intact.

"We want the bonus payment first," Patman said, "and the method of payment can come later. Under no circumstances will I attempt to substitute my currency expansion bill for the measure before the house."

DAVEY PREDICTS ROOSEVELT AND ALL DEMOCRATS

Governor Devotes Part of Talk to "Trial of People Versus G. O. P. Presidents"

COLUMBUS, Jan. 9.—(UP)—Governor Davey, speaking extemporaneously at the Franklin-Cox Jackson Day dinner last night, predicted election of President Roosevelt and an "entire Democratic ticket" next November.

The governor devoted a portion of his talk to what he entitled "The trial of the people against Harding, Coolidge and Hoover." "Their administration," he said, "was a period of 12 years when the government was given over to the service of the specially privileged and the great masses of the people had no chance. The theory was that if they took good care of the special interests, crumbs might fall down from the table and the little fellow could pick them up."

Gov. Davey pleaded for party harmony and predicted his own reelection.

"It's Swell to Be Alive Again"

"It's Swell to be alive again. If I was dead, death is just a blank." So says Patrolman Frank Owen of Chicago who "died" Christmas eve. That is, Owen was struck by a taxicab, rushed to a hospital and pronounced dead by two physicians. Dr. Edward P. Vaughn, however, gave him a dose of adrenalin and now Owen is once more alive and expects to recover. Dr. Vaughn, left, Owen and a staff doctor are also shown above.

Higher Income Possible For Ohio Dairy Farmers

Not Filling Home Market Demand, Expert Declares; More Money Ready for First Grade Cream

COLUMBUS, Jan. 9.—The consumer demand for butter in Ohio is about 30,000,000 pounds more than the state's dairy farmers supply. This means that with prices even lower than at present they are surrendering annually a possible additional income of approximately $9,000,000 to dairymen and creamerymen in western states who are taking advantage of supplying this shortage, reveals R. B. Stoltz, chairman of the department of dairy technology at the Ohio State university.

In pointing out the availability of this home market, which would use enough more Ohio-produced butter to yield more than $100,000 a year to dairy farmers in each county in the state—in addition to their present income of approximately $200,000 per county—Stoltz says that dairy farmers in Ohio can gain this home market from dairymen in the West because they are closer to their consumers.

May Improve Cream
Improving the quality of cream they sell is a further means open to an increased income for dairy farmers in Ohio, according to Stoltz. Creameries in the southern third of the state are now paying a differential of 2 cents a pound between first and second grade cream, because only first grade cream will make first grade butter for which they can get a higher price, the dairy specialist points out.

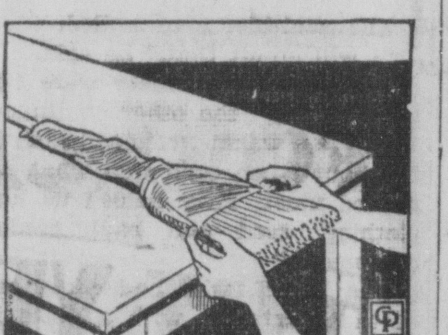

Continuing further his explanation about the 2-cent-a-pound more for first grade cream, he discloses that this is enough to make $5 more profit a year on each cow producing 250 pounds of butterfat annually, or to increase the income of dairy farmers by more than $20,000 annually in counties producing over 1,000,000 pounds of butterfat a year. There are at least 10 Ohio counties in this class and nearly half the counties produce over 500,000 pounds of butterfat annually.

Keep Enough Cows
Stoltz offers a suggestion to farmers who keep from only one to three cows. He says that a farmer with so few cows is handicapped in getting enough butterfat profit because his few cows necessitate about as much work as if he had at least five or six cows. It requires only a little longer to wash the utensils for six cows than for two. The investment in a cream separator for six cows is no greater than for two, and about the same amount of time is required to deliver 10 pounds of butterfat as 40 pounds. Keep enough cows, he suggests, to make their keeping and production profitable.

FARLEY WARNS OF IMPENDING DEFAMATION CAMPAIGN

NATIONAL HEADS TOLD OF G. O. P. ELECTION PLANS

Democratic Chiefs Meet to Select Convention Site, Hear Fiery Address

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(UP)—Chairman James A. Farley warned the Democratic national committee that the forthcoming presidential campaign will be "the bitterest and certainly the dirtiest political struggle that any of us here can remember."

As the committee met to consider the coming campaign and choose a national convention city, Farley told his party leaders they would have to combat "a simple effort to break down the faith of the people in the president."

He attacked the "financial gangsters whose extortions were so largely responsible for bringing on the Hoover panic." He denied there is a division in Democratic ranks. He admitted the government is in business, but declared it is "a profitable business" and that the government will continue present policies "only for so long as private enterprise fails to take it up."

Defamation Campaign

"The campaign of 1936 will be a campaign of defamation on the side of our adversaries, a simple effort to break down the faith of the people in a president under whose leadership the Democratic administration has lifted our nation out of the depths of despair to the broad way of hope and set it on the high road to renewed prosperity," Farley said.

"I have not the slightest doubt of its outcome but I feel it my duty to warn you that you will have to combat misrepresentations, outright lies, and every form of fool whispering you can imagine. Moreover, you must realize that the assault on the Roosevelt administration will be financed with the largest slush fund on record, contributed for the most part by those who have neither public conscience nor private scruple."

"Our adversaries are trying to represent the party conflict as a battle between the business interests of the country and a mythical group bent on substituting a socialistic, communistic system for the economic processes that have made this nation the greatest, wealthiest commonwealth in the world. It is a ridiculous perversion of the facts. A great proportion of our commercial and industrial leaders are with the president as sincerely as they were when they rallied to his support in 1932."

Cites Bank Failures

"How many bank failures have there been since the president took charge and rebuilt the whole banking structure? In the three years preceding this administration there were innumerable business collapses. In the three year period of the Roosevelt regime there were not half so many."

"The only difference is that we have had at the head of our government a President wise enough to see what had to be done and courageous enough to do it. It is that program, and that alone that saved America."

"Our adversaries' characteristics are using every agency at their command to give the impression of division in the Democratic ranks. A little while ago they were gravely announcing that a third party move was impending. Whenever some irresponsible adventurer thinks he sees an opportunity to launch a political racket, our Republican friends announce the advent of a Democratic revolt. Political changes do not come about that way."

Hoover Do Nothing

"Nobody knows who will be the Republican nominee, least of all the Republicans. They dare not nominate Herbert Hoover, the most eminent proponent of the do-nothing policy that brought on the great economic calamity. They cannot nominate Senator Borah, because that veteran of thirty years of political battling must be poison to the crowd whose league is championing the crusade against all that is being done to keep the country safe from the depredations of its sponsors. Inevitably they will be driven to some colorless individual, unknown, until paid propaganda builds up a fabulous picture and presents it to the people as some one worthy to direct the destinies of the United States."

There's Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, still in his twenties, and a millionaire. There are the Donahue brothers, Jimmy and Woolworth, also worth millions. There's J. Edgar Hoover, dark and handsome chief of the romantic "G-men." There's Senator Rush D. Holt of West Virginia, just 30 years old. If you "go for" singers, there's Nelson Eddy, 31-year-old radio and screen star. And, yes, there also are two movie stars for you, Dick Powell, who's just 28, and Gene Raymond 25. So there!

PROJECT OFFICE IN COURT-ROOM

WPA Officials Move to Rear of City Building

The WPA office was moved late Wednesday from the office of the safety director in the city building to the mayor's courtroom at the rear of the building. The transfer provides the employees with much needed additional space.

L. T. Shaner, safety director under W. B. Cady, moved his office into the mayor's office to provide space for the WPA force.

The Thompson-rd WPA project in Deercreek-twp, will be completed this week, officials announced Wednesday evening.

The project included extensive road and culvert improvements between the farms of Victor Ater and George Hunsicker. The road was widened, grades changed, and fill-ins made. Stones from the old canal were used for the improvement.

Twenty workmen were employed on the project. Nine were transferred to the Canal project Wednesday and the balance will be transferred to other projects about the first of next week.

Thompson-rd is the north extension from the Williamsport-Clarksburg-pk to the Pennsylvania railroad. At present the county commissioners have a petition before them for the extension of the road to Route 22.

ELEVATOR DESTROYED BY FIRE; LOSS GREAT

CLEVELAND, Jan. 9.—(UP)—A $75,000 fire destroyed the Farmers' Co-operative Elevator here today. The 100-foot high building collapsed after volunteer firemen had fought the flames for several hours.

There were between 3000 and 4000 bushels of wheat, 8000 bushels of oats, 1200 bushels of corn, and 600 bushels of rye in the elevator, awaiting sale and shipment, officials estimated.

NEW OFFICIALS PREPAID TAX CARDS READY FEB. 1

All merchants using the dollar Prepaid Sales Tax cards must dispose of their present supply on or before Feb. 1. The new sales tax law provides that all cards used after Feb. 1 shall be sold to the vendor by the treasurer of state and his various agents.

The new cards will not be available to the treasurer until Jan. 28 or later.

The new cards will have a blank space on the front where the vendor must place his name and license number with such necessary information as the commission may see fit to require. This printing may be done by multigraph, mimeograph, printing, press or rubber stamp.

Writing names in with pencil or pen will not be permissible.

Instead of buying stamps and cards, the new cards will have the stamps printed on the back in the proper place. Cards will be sold for the regular price of the stamps, 3 cents, minus the customary 3 per cent discount, with a small charge for the cost of cards and printing.

Any old cards sold before Feb. 1 may be used by the consumer and accepted by the vendor who issued the card in payment of the tax. The cards are not to be accepted by anyone other than the vendor by whom they were sold.

The America's cup race for 1936 has been abandoned, although whether as a gesture of peace or for purely economic reasons has not been announced.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S LOAD

READING Attorney General Cummings' annual report recalls what he recently said about the ramifications of the work of his department. Referring to the legal problems raised by New Deal legislation and the involvement of the government in extended litigation, he observed that "this has meant an intricate and far-flung range of work that might be described in terms almost as complete as those of our national life itself." A glance at the report confirms the fact.

The extent to which the department has been engaged before the supreme court alone is shown by the statement that out of 926 cases disposed of by that tribunal the last fiscal year, the government figured as litigant in 304, or 33 per cent. More significant than the number were the large constitutional issues presented, putting a prodigious load on the department, and the end still is not in sight. Altogether the legal staff including district attorneys handled 46,765 cases, which it is declared to be the peak of capacity with present personnel.

Crowded court calendars are matched by crowded federal prisons and reformatories. The report declares "we can no longer be complacent in the belief that we have provided sufficient housing space" for the enforced guests of the government. The number of prisoners increased in the year by 5,632 to a total of 21,444. This is a thousand in excess of any previous record. Commitments for liquor violations are substantially the same as before repeal, indicating, as noted, a growing severity of the courts toward violators of the liquor revenue laws as contrasted with the former prohibition cases.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

ENROUTE TO NEW YORK FROM HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—Across acres and acres of unused land the train speeds. The United States could support 200 million additional people, but they are barred.

One world-famous economist remarked years ago: "The more mouths to feed, the more work for hands to do."

The United States, however, has rejected that principle. With nine or ten million persons out of work, it is believed we have too many people.

When England had three million population (in Elizabeth's time) it was believed to have too many people—and colonization beyond the seas began. Then England gained 13 times three million people in its tight little isle, and became more prosperous than ever.

When the United States had reached a population of 50 millions, fear was expressed that there were "too many people."

But the United States gained a new peak of prosperity when the 50 millions more than doubled. As soon as people and goods were barred, prosperity began to taper off.

Now the United States has "too many people" (we hear), although thousands and thousands of acres of land lie dormant and much factory space and costly machines are idle.

Surely, there is a hitch somewhere. Maybe we have the cart before the horse.

DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE WONDERING HOW TO HANDLE GOVERNOR TALMADGE

WASHINGTON—Although the official business of the Democratic National Committee meeting here is to arrange for the June convention, the Committee's real concern is Governor Gene Talmadge of Georgia. The question is what to do about him if he should appear with credentials and ask to be seated.

Following the death of Major John Cohen, Atlanta publisher and ardent Rooseveltite, Talmadge elected himself and Mrs. Susan T. Moore, one of his followers, to the National Committee.

Under party rules only the National Committee itself has the power to elect or remove members of the body. Ordinarily, however, when a State Committee designates a successor to a deceased member, the National Committee approves his credentials as a routine matter.

But with Talmadge and Mrs. Moore, the situation is different. The red-gallused fire-eater of Georgia is one of Roosevelt's bitterest foes. Among organization Democrats he is anathema.

Ever since Talmadge set himself up as National Committeeman, certain Administrationites have been devising schemes to crack down on him.

Their most favored plan is this: When Talmadge presents his credentials, they would be referred to a credentials committee which would promptly bury them on the excuse of giving "careful consideration." By this strategy Talmadge would be "legally" barred from admittance to the present meeting.

DOUBTFUL

While eager to strafe Talmadge, some of the Democratic moguls on whom the proposed plan has been strongly pressed are doubtful of its wisdom. They say the spanking would be too obvious, would enable Gene to raise the cry of "persecution."

What the party chiefs want to avoid above all is the note of disharmony. As much as they hate Talmadge, they prefer to seat him and Mrs. Moore now, wait for a more opportune occasion to "give him the works."

ELECTION BET

President Roosevelt and Senator Bill Borah have entered into a solemn agreement to take each other for a ride.

It happened this way: Borah sat one seat from the President at a recent White House dinner. Roosevelt leaned over and joshed the Senator about his campaign.

"I'll tell you what I'll do, Senator," said Roosevelt, "If you are elected President you take me for a ride on the Potomac (the new Presidential yacht). If I am re-elected I promise to take you on a ride."

"It's a deal, Mr. President," said Borah, "only don't forget YOUR part of the bargain."

CHAPTER 40

"DELIA WAS right then, wasn't she?" I questioned, picking up the letter that concerned Grace. "Mrs. Starbuck did come into the kitchen yesterday between 5 and 6 o'clock?"

"She did, Mrs. Penny," admitted Grace, "but I lied because I didn't want her accused of taking that knife."

"By the way, about this Mrs. Rippe for whom you worked? Is she still in Europe?" I hoped she was in some inaccessible place where Larrabee couldn't get hold of her.

"She died there a few years ago. I saw the notice in the papers." That was a relief. Now Larrabee couldn't question her. I could give him her letter of recommendation about Grace without fear. I started to the door but Grace wasn't ready to go yet.

"Mrs. Penny, there's something I want to tell you. I didn't say anything about it last night because I felt too bad to talk. You're not going to like what I'm going to say."

"Well?"

"It's about Mrs. Upham—and I thought you should be the first to know."

I stiffened. What did Grace know about Lucy? Why did she think I should be the first to know? Was it about Dr. Rudemeyer? Was it something Lucy had done the night Andrew Darien was killed when Grace was sleeping in the room next to hers?

"I didn't say anything to you yesterday afternoon because Delia was there and she would have told Lieutenant Larrabee. But Mrs. Upham was in the kitchen about five minutes in all, talking to me, showing me the jacket. You know she's always friendly." Grace was right. Lucy is friendly. Often in an afternoon, she looked in the kitchen and chatted with Grace and Delia.

"Delia was upstairs between 5 and 5:30, straightening up, so she wasn't there when most of the people came in and went out. Well, Mrs. Upham opened the kitchen drawer. I saw her do it. I didn't think anything about it at the time, because she pokes around while she's talking, and it seemed natural to me. When the knife was missing I thought about it, and was afraid. Not that Mrs. Upham would kill anyone. She would be as far as I know, but opening the drawer—well, that was different."

"You may be mistaken, Grace."

"No. I distinctly saw her open the drawer, and then close it."

"You didn't see her take anything from it?"

"No, but she had the jacket over her arm. She could have hidden the knife under the jacket and I wouldn't have known the difference. I'm not saying she did, because I didn't see her. But I thought you ought to know."

Yes, I ought to know. I heard myself saying, faintly, I also heard myself say that Mrs. Upham wouldn't take the knife under any circumstances, she had probably opened drawers hundreds of times in the kitchen and closed them again. That it meant nothing. All the while I was thinking of what the doctor had told me about Lucy, and hoping that Grace wouldn't see the anxiety that must be written all over my face.

"And another thing. It may not be important, but Delia was in love with Mr. Hemingway."

"Delia—in love?" I exclaimed. Grace nodded.

"She used to rave and rave about him—silly like about him being her ideal. When he smiled at her she was awfully happy. I think it was the first time she'd ever been in love. I told her time and time again she'd have to fight it—and she said she'd try. I didn't want her to get into trouble—she was such a child, and I didn't trust Mr. Hemingway. Delia wasn't attractive, but—well, you never can tell about men."

"Did Mr. Hemingway ever give her any encouragement?"

"I don't know. Tuesday morning, before the—before we found out about Mr. Darien, Delia was singing and whistling all the time she was

"I lied because I didn't want her accused of taking that knife."

In the kitchen with me. She seemed happier than usual. She told me that the night before she'd found a pair of gloves in Mr. Hemingway's overcoat in the downstairs hall closet, and she'd taken them because she found a button missing. She was going to sew it on.

"She showed them to me—they were in her apron pocket, and asked me if there was a button in the house that would match the other. I said I didn't think so—I didn't have one, but you might in your sewing box. She said she'd look."

"She didn't steal the gloves, Mrs. Penny. I want you to know that. Delia was too honest to steal, but she took them to sew on the button—sort of wanted to do something for Mr. Hemingway, I guess. A foolish idea, but she was foolish about her love for Mr. Hemingway. She'd done that before—taken things from his room and his laundry bag, mended them and put them back. She always wanted to do things for him, if you know what I mean. Like a child she'd come and tell me what she had done."

"But she didn't sew the button on, Grace, did she?"

I knew, she hadn't because the gloves had been found in her room with the button still missing. Grace didn't know that, because the only persons who knew were the police, myself and Mr. Hemingway. He had been questioned about the gloves in Delia's room, and although he admitted they were his, he claimed he didn't know how they got there.

"She hadn't yesterday afternoon, because she said she'd rummaged around in your sewing box and couldn't find a button to match. She wanted to go out and buy one, but of course she couldn't—with what had happened and all. Yesterday afternoon she still had the gloves in the pocket of her uniform."

I considered what Grace had told me. It had seemed foolish to me when Larrabee grilled Mr. Hemingway about the gloves. Why, if he had murdered Delia, had he left his gloves behind as a clue? No sense to that. If he had worn his gloves into her room to do away with fingerprints, had murdered Delia, he most certainly would have taken the gloves away with him. No murderer would be so careless as to leave his own gloves in a room of death.

But now it was different. Delia was the one who had taken the gloves from Hemingway's overcoat pocket in the hall closet. From

Monday evening until yesterday afternoon they had been with the girl. Wasn't it natural that the gloves should have been in her uniform pocket when Larrabee and I took her upstairs? I hadn't noticed them, but they must have been there. They might have fallen to the floor when she undressed. They might have been disturbed by the murderer.

A new thought came to my mind, and I put another question to Grace. "Do you think that Delia would have admitted Mr. Hemingway to her room?"

"I don't know that, Mrs. Penny. You mean last night? And that he murdered her?"

"I mean just that."

"Delia was in her nightgown when we found her, Grace. Would she have let in Mr. Hemingway, dressed in her nightgown?"

"She didn't have a wrapper or a bathrobe, Mrs. Penny. Maybe you didn't know, but she didn't. She was making one but it wasn't finished."

"I didn't know, but I was glad to find out. That explained quite a bit. I continued:

"You know her better than I did. Do you think if Mr. Hemingway knocked on her door, called to her, that she would have gone to the door dressed in her nightgown?"

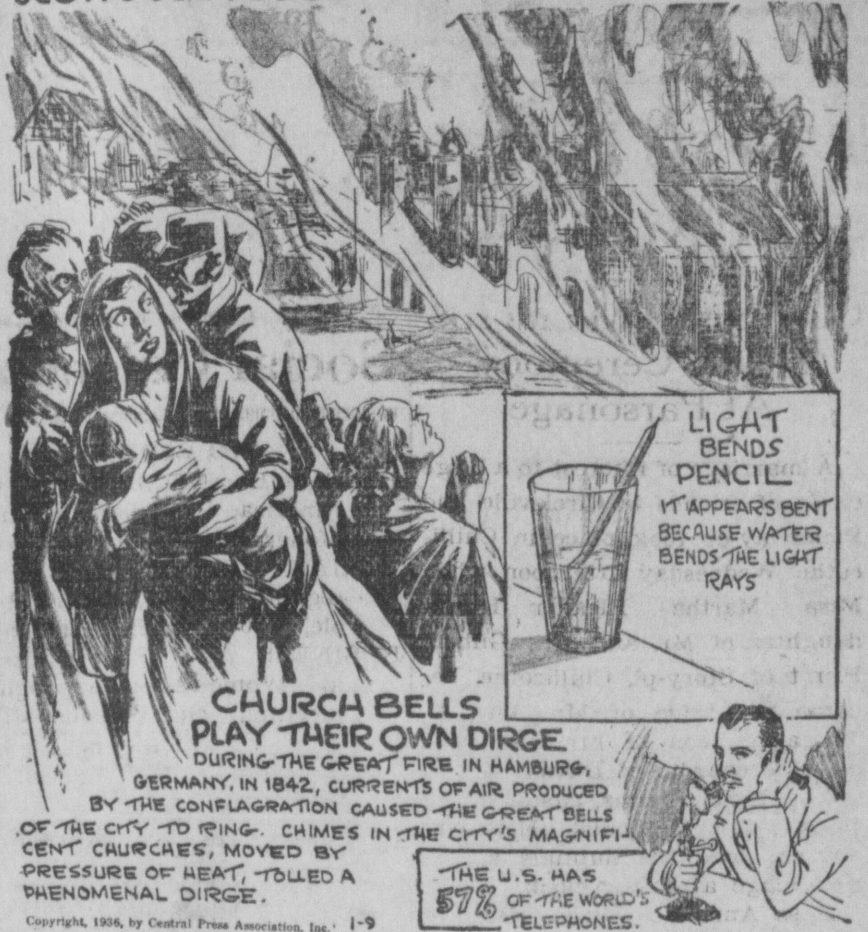

"She might have gone to the door, opened it a little to talk to him. I'm almost sure she would answer him, Mrs. Penny. Then he might have pushed the door wider and entered. Yes, I think that is possible."

"That was assuming Mr. Hemingway didn't know his gloves were in Delia's room. If Grace was right, he didn't. I was sure Grace was right. It was simpler, much simpler to imagine him going into Delia's room without knowledge of the gloves. The gloves had bothered me a good deal."

"I'm going to tell Lieutenant Larrabee this, Grace, because I think he ought to know—at least about the gloves, and Delia taking them. He can draw his own conclusions. He'll ask you questions about Delia, and I want you to tell him what you've told me."

 All in the dark along the wall,
 And follow round the forest track

There, in the night, where none

Teegardin, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Teegardin of Duval.

Rev. Leroy Simms, pastor of the Walnut-st Methodist Episcopal church, read the nuptials in the parsonage at 4:30 o'clock.

Miss Annabelle Hurst, sister of the bride, Boyd Teegardin, twin brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Thomas, S. Scioto-st, this city, were the only attendants.

The bride was attired in a blue crepe dress with navy blue accessories.

A dinner was served at the McCarty hotel in Chillicothe for the attendants following the ceremony.

Mrs. Teegardin graduated from White Cross Nurses Training school in 1931 and Mr. Teegardin attended Ohio State university, Columbus. He is now one of the members of the Teegardin-Cook Grange Co. in Mt. Sterling.

Satin and Net Make Black Dress

THIS SYLVIA DICK satin dinner dress is for the slim woman. The close-fitting hip-line is too revealing for the woman who has superfluous flesh about her middle to wear it smartly.

Its distinguishing features are the long sleeves that reveal the shoulders and have novel diamond-shaped appliques of black satin on black net, which continues across the back.

The halter neckline and uneven hemline are other interesting details.

The last word smartness is a beige sheer wool costume with a three-quarter length, flared coat with a collar of beige fox. The dress has a copper colored suede belt with a brown buckle, and the skirt has box pleats.

BISHOPS START DRIVE TOWARD NEW BAA CROWN

Wesleyan Crew Gains 37-25 Victory Over Ohio U.; Western Reserve Wins

COLUMBUS, Jan. 9.—(UP)—Ohio Wesleyan today appeared on its way to another Buckeye conference record as a result of its 37 to 25 victory over Ohio university last night.

The victory enabled Wesleyan to make a successful opening of its title defense and marked the 13th consecutive triumph for the Bishops over Buckeye foes. Wesleyan won the final four conference games of its 1935-34 schedule, and swept through its eight league games last season.

When the Bishops won the title for the second straight time last season, they became the first team ever to accomplish the feat. And the victory last night definitely re-established Coach Ray Detrick's quintet as the prime favorite in the Buckeye.

Look Early Lead

Wesleyan jumped into an early lead in the contest and at half-time led 15 to 10. Shortly after the second period started Ohio U. went into a 19 to 16 lead.

The advantage of the Bobcats was short-lived as Ernie Talos, Wesleyan guard, broke through with two field goals and a foul to put the Bishops into a lead they never relinquished.

Talos with 11 points paced Wesleyan's attack. Rinta scored nine for Ohio U.

Reserve In Victory

Western Reserve's powerful team continued its victory march with an easy 56 to 43 victory over John Carroll.

Reserve held an 31 to 16 advantage at the half and a team composed of substitutes played the entire second period.

Kenyon gained an Ohio conference victory when it turned back Oberlin 35 to 30.

Kentucky Wesleyan handed Holbrook another defeat. The Ohioans lost 39 to 23.

Only one game is scheduled in the state tonight. It pits Muskingum against Ashland in an Ohio conference game at Ashland.

RUTH DEFEATS DEAN

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Jan. 9.—(UP)—Babe Ruth settled an old score yesterday when he defeated Dizzy Dean, St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, in 18 holes of golf.

Playing in a sweltering heat that saw the Bambino strip to the waist before the match was half finished, the former Sultan of Swat turned in an 84, one under Dean's card.

Paul Waner, Pittsburgh Pirate outfielder, clicked off an 81 to walk away with the major league baseball players' pool. Lloyd Brown, Cleveland pitcher, shot an 85.

The word mortician is a derivative of the Latin word death.

SAUNDERS' EXERCISE BOY GIVEN FREEDOM

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 9.—(UP)—Heartened by the acquittal of his companion on a murder charge, Jockey Willie (Smoky) Saunders today expected to be cleared of complicity in the death of Mrs. Evelyn Slivinsky, pretty, party-loving wife of a Louisville tailor.

Walter Schaeffer, 25, exercise boy, was found not guilty late last night by a jury of 12 men who deliberated only one hour and forty-five minutes. The verdict brought a rousing cheer from the crowd-jammed court room.

O'MAHONEY IS TOSSED TO MAT BY FRENCH GRAPPLER

HOLYOKE, Mass., Jan. 9.—(UP)—After flattening Danno O'Mahoney twice in an informal wrestling bout last night, Yvon Robert, French—Canadian claimed the world's wrestling championship held by the Irishman.

Robert pinned O'Mahoney with a legitimate toss and then knocked him cold with a punch in an unscheduled melee that precipitated a riot.

O'Mahoney was scheduled to meet Frank Judson of New York, whom he threw in straight falls in 34 minutes. Before the regular bout started, Robert, the title-holder's most persistent challenger, was introduced from the ring, instead of leaving, he doffed his overcoat, a sweater and trousers, emerging in wrestling trunks.

Without warning he leaped for O'Mahoney, but police interfered. Throughout the Judson-O'Mahoney contest, Robert, and his manager, Eddie Quinn heckled the champion unmercifully from ring side seats. This made the Irishman furious. After the match, he was said to have shouted at Robert: "I'll take you some day. The sooner the better. Other ringers claim O'Mahoney demanded an immediate showdown.

ANOTHER STAR ELEVEN TO MEET PRO ATHLETES

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(UP)—An all-star college eleven, recruited from all sections of the country, will play the New York Giants, eastern division champions of the National Professional Football league, here next fall under the promotion of the New York Herald Tribune, it was announced today.

Profits from the game, which has been tentatively set for Sept. 9, will go to the Herald-Tribune's fresh air fund for underprivileged children. It probably will be played at the new Tri-Borough stadium on Randall's Island.

Players and coaches of the college team will be selected in a nation-wide poll. Only players who have completed their under-graduate careers will be eligible.

The Herald Tribune will cooperate with the Chicago Tribune, which has conducted similar games the past two years in Chicago between the Chicago Bears and all-star college teams. The Chicago paper again will stage its game this fall between the Detroit Lions, professional champions, and a college team. After that game, the collegians will move to New York to join other players for about 10 days of practice before meeting the Giants.

THE flute is doubtless one of the oldest musical instruments in the world. The primitive cave dwellers made flutes of the leg bones of birds and other animals.

3-WAY CONTEST LOOMING IN CAMPAIGN FOR SHERIFF

FRANK KLINE, JR. GIVEN PETITION; G. O. P. IS QUIET

Local Man to Provide Opposition for Sheriff Radcliff and Crawford

At least a 3-way fight for the Democratic nomination for sheriff was seen today as Frank H. "Timmy" Kline, Jr., S. Court-st., obtained a petition from Harry E. Weill, deputy clerk of the board of elections.

Mr. Kline has made no statement concerning his candidacy and could not be reached by telephone. Since he was at work. The candidate is employed by Helvering and Scharenberg and spends much of his time in the rural sections of the county.

His name is placed beside those of Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff, who announced his candidacy Wednesday, and Gilbert Crawford of Darbyville, who tossed his hat into the ring last Saturday. Mr. Crawford, however, has not yet obtained his nominating petition.

Mr. Kline is well-known in the city and county. He is a member of Trinity Lutheran church, and for a number of years was a member of some of the best basketball teams the Circleville Athletic club boasted. He is married and father of two children.

No activity has yet been seen on the Republican side of the county political race, but from indications there is going to be plenty of actions among the Democrats.

HOUSE HURRIES TO VOTE RELIEF

Finance Committee Holding Up $10,000,000 Measure

COLUMBUS, Jan. 9—(UP)—Whether the $10,000,000 Marlow-Kilpatrick poor relief bill comes up for final consideration today in the House of Representatives, depends on whether the House finance committee approves the measure.

When the House adjourned yesterday, it was hoped by the leaders that the relief bill could be disposed of today, despite the delay in committee.

Democratic floor leader Frank Uible requested that all the representatives be present today, because it was planned to have the relief measure brought up for passage.

The bill was referred to a subcommittee of three members of the finance committee to have amendments prepared, in co-operation with the authors of the measure, designed to remove minor objections raised by committee members.

The House yesterday passed two of the important social security measures to make the state laws relating to mothers' pensions, aid for needy dependent children, and aid and vocational rehabilitation for crippled children, conform with the federal social security act.

The two bills, sent to the Senate for consideration, would appropriate $2,230,000 from the state general revenue fund for these purposes, and at the same time enable Ohio to qualify for $2,200,000 of federal funds. Both were passed as emergency measures.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9—(UP)—The lightest solid element ever produced is science's newest weapon in attempts to learn secrets of nature by smashing atoms. Dr. W. F. C. Swann, director of the Bartol Research foundation of the Franklin Institute of Swarthmore, Pa., demonstrated production of the new matter, Lithium 6, before the science forum of the New York Electrical society. It is obtained by separating the isotopes of Lithium, lightest of elements, and is being used to form atomic projectiles in atom-smashing experiments.

President Leads New Deal Drive

Last night was analogical, but his audience had no difficulty in following his parallels between the administration of Andrew Jackson and his own; indeed, Mr. Roosevelt repeatedly made certain of absolute preception by direct connection. He was riotously cheered and applauded at each of many rapturous thrusts at opposing forces the audience seemed to have no trouble in recognizing.

Sought Human Rights
"Jackson sought social justice and fought for human rights in his many battles to protect the people against autocratic or oligarchic aggression," Mr. Roosevelt said.

"If at times his passionate devotion to this cause of the average citizen lent an amazing zeal to his thoughts, his speech, and his actions the people loved him for it the more. They realized the intensity of the attacks by his enemies, by those who, thrust from power and position, pursued him with relentless hatred. The beneficiaries of the abuses to which he put an end pursued him with all the violence that political passion can generate. But the people of his day were not deceived."

Mr. Roosevelt paused amid a faint ripple of gathering applause, then added:

"They loved him for the enemies he had made."

Hand-clapping, cheers, shrill whistles rang through the hotel ballroom and out through the microphones into the living rooms of the nation.

Mr. Roosevelt pointed out that Jackson was backed not only by his own party, but "by thousands who had belonged to other parties, or belonged to no party at all." This, coupled with other portions of his speech, became an invitation to Republicans and members of other political parties to join the new deal cause.

Continuing, he said Jackson was forced to fight "every inch" for his ideals.

"An overwhelming proportion of the material power of the country was arrayed against him. The great media for the dissemination of information and the moulding of public opinion fought him. Haughty and sterile intellectualism opposed him. Musty reaction disapproved him. Hollow and outworn traditionalism shook a trembling finger at him. It seemed that sometimes all were against him."

Again Mr. Roosevelt paused, a split second of silence that focused an intense attention upon his next words: "All but the people of the United States."

"As I understand the temper of the people, particularly the temper of youth, no party of reaction, no candidates of reaction, can fulfill the hope and faith of that spirit."

"The people of America knew the heart and the purpose of their government."

"We will not retreat."

President Leads New Deal Drive In Stirring Talk

Real Issue of Campaign is Right of Every Person to Live Finer, Better, Happier Life, He Tells Jackson Day Diners Throughout Nation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9—(UP)—No doubt remained today that President Roosevelt plans to lead a forceful, aggressive campaign to confirm the New Deal in power at the polls next November. For the second time in less than a week, the chief executive last night struck at enemies of his administration with unequivocal epithet and stinging analogy.

His speech to the $50 a plate Jackson Day diners officially opened the Democratic side of the 1936 campaign, though it was his fourth public justification of New Deal measures in recent months. His first was at Atlanta, the second at Chicago, the third before congress last Friday night. To confirm the beginning barrages of the Democratic heavy artillery, the Democratic national committee met today to hear a fighting speech by National Chairman James A. Farley and to name its convention city.

CHICAGO TO WIN BIG CONVENTION

Reports Current in Capital; Talmadge Hits Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9—(UP)—Reports circulated among members that "it is all fixed for Chicago" as the Democratic National committee convention. Philadelphia and Chicago are the chief contenders for the meeting.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9—(UP)—Governor Eugene Talmadge of Georgia appeared today at the convention-selection meeting of the Democratic National committee and with a single word opened his campaign to prevent reelection of President Roosevelt.

Talmadge uttered a firm and distinct "no" against a resolution by which the committee endorsed the Roosevelt New Deal.

The approving resolution was offered by Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City and was seconded by Sen. Kenneth McKellar, D., Tenn.

It stated that the Democratic National committee "congratulates the party on the opportunity to ratify" the Roosevelt administration and "reaffirmed loyalty to the president and endorsed his efforts to cure economic ills."

BETTS RE-NAMED AS PRESIDENT OF VETERANS' ASSN.

William Betts, Jr., was re-elected president of the Soldiers' Monumental association Wednesday evening at the annual meeting held in the Memorial hall.

James A. Cook was re-elected treasurer, and James Shea was chosen secretary, replacing Lawrence Johnson.

E. C. Ebert was re-elected as a trustee for three years and Robert Young was selected to succeed Joe Lynch, whose term has expired. Other members of the board are George Trimmer, Civil war veteran, Ralph Ward and William Betts, Jr.

The trustees will hold an organization meeting next Tuesday evening to name officers.

Thirty members of the association attended the annual meeting.

CONFIDENCE VOICED

Roy E. Norris, commander of Henry Page Folsom Jr. post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, today received a telegram from W. B. Wynne, commander of the department of Ohio, that the House of Representatives is almost certain to approve the soldier's bonus, while the senate is uncertain.

Norris was urged to use what influence he had to urge Senator Robert Bulkley to support the measure. Senator A. Vic Donahay was declared in favor of payment.

PRESIDENT, WIFE FETE HIGH TRIBUNAL JUDGES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9—(UP)—President and Mrs. Roosevelt tonight will be hosts to the Supreme court of the United States at the annual judicial reception.

The court, which this week in a 6-3 decision tossed out one of Mr. Roosevelt's prime recovery programs, will be honor guests at the reception which will be attended by several hundred persons. It will be held in the east room of the White House.

LEADERS CALLED TO REVIVE A A A

President Again Declares "Justice" is Objective

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9—(UP)—The New Deal marshalled its strongest forces today to salvage the shattered AAA and to meet threats of controversy this week-end when farm leaders offer their plans for the future of American agriculture.

To Lead Own Army

Recent presidents, with the exception of Herbert Hoover, have sought to take only a comparative small part in their re-election campaigns, leaving the great burden to followers and political subordinates. Mr. Roosevelt, who spoke by radio to 2,000 other Jackson Day diners in all parts of the country an d to the nation at large, made it plain that he would ride at the head of his army, unsheathed sword in hand.

As he did before congress, he paid his respects to a minority of business and finance which he said was ready to "gang up on the people's liberty". Some of his speech before congress, a vein the American Liberty league and other critics said was calculated to rouse class hatred. He had not uttered a hundred words when he made this statement:

"I am happy to stand here tonight and declare to you that the real issue before the United States is the right of the average man and woman to lead a finer, a better, and a happier life."

The president spoke before approximately 1,500 ranking Democrats who had paid $50 each for a five dollar dinner and the privilege of hearing him speak. The other $45 will go into the Democratic war chest. Heartening to the party was the presence of certain old-line, conservative Democrats whom Republicans had hoped would be alienated by new deal policies.

AUGLAIZE MAN ASKS DAVEY JOB; PLATFORM AIRED

COLUMBUS, Jan. 9—(UP)—J. Henry Myer of Wapakoneta, Auglaize-co today announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor. Myer said he was an advocate of the Townsend old age pension plan and payment of the soldiers' bonus.

He formerly was Auglaize-co surveyor and has been connected with the state highway department and the works progress administration.

Arthur Palm, walking west in the street shoving a pushcart, was severely bruised when struck by a Ford roadster driven by George Grooms.

Grooms took Palm home and he was treated by Dr. D. V. Court-right.

GILBERT, FAMED STAR OF SCREEN, STRICKEN, DIES

Heart Attack Fatal to Popular Idol of Silent Pictures in Hollywood Home

ALL FACTS UNKNOWN

Actor Gained Greatest Reputation Appearing in Pictures Opposite Greta Garbo

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 9—John Gilbert, famous screen star in the silent picture era, died Thursday after a heart attack.

The fire department announced it had been called to send an in-halator to the actor's home on Power Grove road at 9 a. m. (noon Circleville time) but that Gilbert was dead when it arrived.

Circumstances of the death were withheld by friends of the actor. He had been ill since Christmas and was confined to his bed most of the time. A nurse was with him this morning when he suffered the fatal attack.

The nurse called servants, who then summoned the firemen.

Two or three previous heart attacks had weakened Gilbert, according to his attorney, P. H. Moore.

John Gilbert was born in Logan, Utah, July 10, 1897, and his real name was Jack Pringle. Some of his best known pictures were "Apostle of Vengeance," "Heart of the Hills," "The Count of Monte Christo," "He Who Gets Slapped," "The Merry Widow," "The Big Parade," "Flesh and the Devil," "Four Walls," "A Woman of Affairs," "Desert Nights," "The Hollywood Revue," "Redemption," "Way for a Sailor," "Phantom of Paris," "Downstairs," "Fast Workers," and "Queen Christina."

His greatest roles were opposite the glamorous Greta Garbo.

FARM AND CAPITOL ECHO AAA RULING

Wirtter Hears Views of Agriculture on Decision Some Critics Say Care Might Have Saved Law

EDITORS: Ken Woodman, Central Press writer, has obtained a first-hand reaction among farmers of Ohio to the outlawing of the AAA.

By KEN WOODMAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9—The federal supreme court's decision against the AAA reflects most unflatteringly upon the constitutional acumen of the New Deal's lawyers. For it now becomes evident that the act could have been made supreme court-proof if it had been drafted with that necessity in view.

It is conceded by all authorities that congress was entitled to vote the processing tax as a revenue measure.

It was not so voted, however. It was voted in a fashion to make it plain that the idea was to take money out of the pockets of one class—the processors—to put it into the pockets of another class—the farmers.

Had the levy's proceeds been turned into the treasury with no strings on it instead of being committed to the AAA's care it would have been all right.

Then congress could have appropriated as much as it chose out of the treasury as a grant to agriculture. It would have been a subterfuge but it would have outlasted the supreme court, which would have been powerless to veto an appropriation of already collected funds.

AAA RELIEF TO LITTLE FELLOWS

A short man in clean work clothes, who had been leaning against the corridor wall turned and spoke quietly:

"It's all very well for you to say that. You run a big farm and could possibly have got along without any regulations, as you call it, whatsoever. But I have only 40 acres and to us little fellows the AAA was not so much regulation as it was downright relief at a time when we were on our backs being gouged by finance companies with chattle mortgages on one hand and by ridiculous prices and a farm surplus on the other hand. Corn, wheat and hog contract payments from the federal government were just so much gravy to you."

The weatherman smiled.

"I will admit that," he said.

"But those payments were not gravy to us," the other continued. They were warm-welcomed cash in the hour when cash was what we needed most. They helped us buy clothing, seed and badly needed equipment."

The bailiff, who had come out of the courtroom with a glass in his hand to get water for the court, interposed a word of banter.

"Aw, it's all politics," he said, jokingly.

WALTER LEMLEY DIES IN HOSPITAL

Atlanta Man Victim of Complications; Rites Saturday

Walter Lemley, 40, well-known Atlanta resident, died in White Cross hospital, Columbus, at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday of complications.

The funeral will be Saturday at 2 p. m. at the residence with Rev. R. M. Morris officiating. The body will be taken to the home Thursday evening where friends may call until Saturday noon. Burial will be in Brown's chapel cemetery by C. E. Hill, Williamsport.

DEATH INQUIRY CONTINUES

COLUMBUS, Jan. 9—(UP)—Authorities today continued their investigation of the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harrison, whose bodies were found in their home here. They apparently died 10 days ago.

Coroner E. E. Smith, after an autopsy, said he believed the couple died of natural causes. However, police said there was evidence of a murder and suicide.

Neighbors told officers the Harrisons had quarreled frequently.

Barnhart Becomes Clerk

The city Board of Education held its second organization meeting of the year Wednesday morning and named C. R. Barnhart as clerk, to succeed Mrs. Lillian W. Moore, elected Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Moore asked to be relieved of the position because of the vast amount of accounting required. She explained she felt someone experienced in that type of work should hold the position. The clerk position is the only salaried job on the board. This position was formerly held by Robert G. Colville, now county treasurer.

Lawrence E. Goeller was elected as vice president, the position held by Mr. Barnhart. Charles H. May, remains as president. Dr. G. D. Phillips is the other member of the organization.

The change in the clerk's position made a number of changes in the standing committees. The committees are: supplies, Barnhart, chairman, May and Goeller; teachers, salaries, discipline and rules, May chairman, Phillips and Moore; finance, Phillips, chairman, Barnhart and Moore; text books, apparatus, etc., Moore, chairman, Phillips and Goeller; buildings and lands, Goeller, chairman, Barnhart and May.

The brief reorganization meeting was held in the office of Mr. May.

His Vote Decides

THE ballot of Herbert S. Bigelow, leader of Rev. Charles E. Coughlin's forces in Cincinnati, decided a bitter mayor's race. Bigelow, who refused to break a 4-4 tie between Charterists and Republicans, cast his vote for himself for mayor until the last minute he supported Russell Wilson incumbent. In a trade for Bigelow's vote he was named chairman of the utilities committee. Bigelow is a bitter foe of the utility interests. Cincinnati has a city manager form of government.

U. S. CONSULATE GUARDS ADDED

Italy Ends Two-Day Newspaper Drive Against Uncle Sam

ROME, Jan. 9—(UP)—The police guard at the American embassy and consulate was strengthened today after a two-day campaign of attack on President Roosevelt's message to congress.

Eight men, instead of the usual two, patrolled before the building. It was said the increase was precautionary.

There had been no demonstrations, however, and authorities said they expected none.

Normally two carabinieri patrol the embassy area. Today there were six, in addition to two metropolitan policemen on bicycles.

President Roosevelt delivered his message to congress Friday night. The campaign of attack on his criticism of dictatorial and warlike nations opened here in the afternoon newspapers on Monday, and it was said officially that the government's reaction to the message was not favorable.

As the attack opened, the United Press was able to reveal on unimpeachable authority that orders were given to publishers to continue it for two days—Monday and Tuesday. According to plan, the newspapers stopped the attacks yesterday.

The general feeling in Italy seems to be friendly to the United States. Terms of the proposed American neutrality bill were received favorably.

1,000 HOGS BRING STRONG PRICE AT LIVESTOCK SALES

The AAA decision, causing a boost in market prices, resulted in Pickaway-co farmers sending 1,000 hogs through the local livestock sale Wednesday afternoon.

Good to choice hogs ranging from 180 to 250 pounds sold from $9.95 to $10.05. The prices were approximately 15 cents lower than Tuesday's quotation. The top price on last week's sale was $9.95.

Cattle receipts totalled 227 head. No choice cattle was sold, medium to good grade ranged from $7.20 to $8.15. Fifty-one head of calves and 35 head of sheep were sold.

RULES CHAIRMAN CALLS MEASURE BEFORE SOLONS

Debate Limited to Four Hours; Backers Move to Defeat Any Amendments

GREAT MARGIN EXPECTED

Right-of-Way Given Over Office Money Question; Galleries Filled

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9—(UP)—The $3,500,000,000 soldiers' bonus issue was thrust once again before the House for action today when Rules Committee Chairman John J. O'Connor, D., N. Y., called up the rule for consideration of the United Front veterans' bill.

Under the rule, which faced little opposition, debate on the bill was limited to four hours and offering of amendments was not restricted.

Backed by a powerful combination of bonus factions, the bill, estimated by its supporters to require a $1,100,000,000 outlay of new cash, probably will be approved overwhelmingly tomorrow and rushed to the Senate for action.

About 100 in Seats

Only about 100 members were in their seats when Speaker Joseph W. Byrne called the session to order.

The galleries, however, were almost full. Most of the spectators were veterans and their families.

The bonus issue was given right-of-way over the $675,000,000 executive and legislative offices appropriation bill for the 1937 fiscal year, which was debated on the floor yesterday but whose passage was delayed for the bonus.

Despite agreement of warring House bonus factions, the bill is an almost certain target for many amendments. Leaders believe most of them will be rejected. Republicans are expected to seek restriction on the method by which the bonus may be paid.

Advocates claim that the bill reduces in half the total immediate cost of the bonus payment over any other previous measure. They said that it will mean an outlay of cash around $1,100,000,000 (B) aside from funds available already.

Rep. Vito Marcantonio, R., N. Y., a leader of the House liberal bloc, plans to offer an amendment preventing removal of veterans from federal relief rolls after they have cashed their certificates.

The bill sponsored by Representatives Fred M. Vinson, D., Ky., and John McCormack, D., Mass., and Wright Patman, D., Tex., author of the bill to pay the bonus through issuance of $2,200,000,000 in "Greenbacks".

Fight Amendments

This powerful trio reached an agreement to vote down any amendment not sponsored by the House ways and means committee, thus assuring passage of the bill almost intact.

"We want the bonus payment first," Patman said, "and the method of payment can come later. Under no circumstances will I attempt to substitute my currency expansion bill for the measure before the house."

FARLEY WARNS OF IMPENDING DEFAMATION CAMPAIGN

NATIONAL HEADS TOLD OF G. O. P. ELECTION PLANS

Democratic Chiefs Meet to Select Convention Site, Hear Fiery Address

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(UP)—Chairman James A. Farley warned the Democratic national committee that the forthcoming presidential campaign will be "the bitterest and certainly the dirtiest political struggle that any of us here can remember."

As the committee met to consider the coming campaign and choose a national convention city, Farley told his party leaders they would have to combat "a simple effort to break down the faith of the people in the president."

He attacked the "financial gangsters whose extortions were so largely responsible for bringing on the Hoover panic." He denied there is a division in Democratic ranks. He admitted the government is in business, but declared it is "a profitable business" and that the government will continue present policies "only for so long as private enterprise fails to take it up."

Defamation Campaign

"The campaign of 1936 will be a campaign of defamation on the side of our adversaries," a simple effort to break down the faith of the people in a president under whose leadership the Democratic administration has lifted our nation out of the depths of despair to the broad way of hope and set it on the high road to renewed prosperity," Farley said.

"I have not the slightest doubt of its outcome but I feel it my duty to warn you that you will have to combat misrepresentation, outright lies, and every form of fool whispering you can imagine. Moreover, you must realize that the assault on the Roosevelt administration will be financed with the largest slush fund on record, contributed for the most part by those who have neither public conscience nor private scruple."

"Our adversaries are trying to represent the party conflict as a battle between the business interests of the country and a mythical group bent on substituting a socialistic, communistic system for the economic processes that have made this nation the greatest, wealthiest commonwealth in the world. It is a ridiculous perversion of the facts. A great proportion of our commercial and industrial leaders are with the president as sincerely as they were when they rallied to his support in 1932."

Cites Bank Failures

"How many bank failures have there been since the president took charge and rebuilt the whole banking structure? In the three years preceding this administration there were innumerable business collapses. In the three year period of the Roosevelt regime there were not half so many."

"The only difference is that we have had at the head of our government a President wise enough to see what had to be done and courageous enough to do it. It is that program, and that alone that saved America."

"Our adversaries' characteristics are using every agency at their command to give the impression of division in the Democratic ranks. A little while ago they were gravely announcing that a third party move was impending. Whenever some irresponsible adventurer thinks he sees an opportunity to launch a political racket, our Republican friends announce the advent of a Democratic revolt. Political changes do not come about that way."

Hoover Do Nothing

"Nobody knows who will be the Republican nominee, least of all the Republicans. They dare not nominate Herbert Hoover, the most eminent proponent of the do-nothing policy that brought on the great economic calamity. They cannot nominate Senator Borah, because that veteran of thirty years of political battling must be poison to the crowd whose league is championing the crusade against all that is being done to keep the country safe from the depredations of its sponsors. Inevitably they will be driven to some colorless individual, unknown, until paid propaganda builds up a fabulous picture and presents it to the people as some one worthy to direct the destinies of the United States."

PROJECT OFFICE IN COURT-ROOM

WPA Officials Move to Rear of City Building

The WPA office was moved late Wednesday from the office of the safety director in the city building to the rear of the building. The transfer provides the employees with much needed additional space.

L. T. Shaner, safety director under W. B. Cady, moved his office into the mayor's office to provide space for the WPA force.

The Thompson-rd WPA project in Deer Creek-twp, will be completed this week, officials announced Wednesday evening.

The project included extensive road and culvert improvements between the farms of Victor Ater and George Hunsicker. The road was widened, grades changed, and fill-ins made. Stones from the old canal were used for the improvement.

Twenty workmen were employed on the project. Nine were transferred to the Canal project Wednesday and the balance will be transferred to other projects about the first of next week.

Thompson-rd is the north extension from the Williamsport-Clarkburg-pk to the Pennsylvania railroad. At present the county commissioners have a petition before them for the extension of the road to Route 22.

ELEVATOR DESTROYED BY FIRE; LOSS GREAT

CLEVELAND, Jan. 9.—(UP)—A $75,000 fire destroyed the Farmers' Co-operative Elevator here today. The 100-foot high building collapsed after volunteer firemen had fought the flames for several hours.

There were between 3000 and 4000 bushels of wheat, 8000 bushels of oats, 1200 bushels of corn, and 600 bushels of rye in the elevator, awaiting sale and shipment, officials estimated.

NEW OFFICIALS PREPAID TAX CARDS READY FEB. 1

All merchants using the dollar Prepaid Sales Tax cards must dispose of their present supply on or before Feb. 1. The new sales tax law provides that all cards used after Feb. 1 shall be sold to the vendor by the treasurer of state and his various agents.

The new cards will not be available to the treasurer until Jan. 28 or later.

The new cards will have a blank space on the front where the vendor must place his name and license number with such necessary information as the commission may see fit to require. This printing may be done by multigraph, mimeograph, printing, press or rubber stamp.

Writing names in with pencil or pen will not be permissible.

Instead of buying stamps and cards, the new cards will have the stamps printed on the back in the proper place. Cards will be sold for the regular price of the stamps, 3 cents, minus the customary 3 per cent discount, with a small charge for the cost of printing.

Any old cards sold before Feb. 1 may be used by the consumer and accepted by the vendor who issued the card in payment of the tax. The cards are not to be accepted by anyone other than the vendor by whom they were sold.

The America's cup race for 1936 has been abandoned, although whether as a gesture of peace or for purely economic reasons has not been announced.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S LOAD

READING Attorney General Cummings' annual report recalls what he recently said about the ramifications of the work of his department. Referring to the legal problems raised by New Deal legislation and the involvement of the government in extended litigation, he observed that "this has meant an intricate and far-flung range of work that might be described in terms almost as complete as those of our national life itself." A glance at the report confirms the fact.

The extent to which the department has been engaged before the supreme court alone is shown by the statement that out of 926 cases disposed of by that tribunal the last fiscal year, the government figured as litigant in 304, or 33 per cent. More significant than the number were the large constitutional issues presented, putting a prodigious load on the department, and the end still is not in sight. Altogether the legal staff including district attorneys handled 46,765 cases, which it is declared to be the peak of capacity with present personnel.

Crowded court calendars are matched by crowded federal prisons and reformatories. The report declares "we can no longer be complacent in the belief that we have provided sufficient housing space" for the enforced guests of the government. The number of prisoners increased in the year by 5,632 to a total of 21,444. This is a thousand in excess of any previous record. Commitments for liquor violations are substantially the same as before repeal, indicating, as noted, a growing severity of the courts toward violators of the liquor revenue laws as contrasted with the former prohibition cases.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

ENROUTE TO NEW YORK FROM HOT SPRINGS, Ark.

Across acres and acres of unused land the train speeds. The United States could support 200 million additional people, but they are barred.

One world-famous economist remarked years ago: "The more mouths to feed, the more work for hands to do."

The United States, however, has rejected that principle. With nine or ten million persons out of work, it is believed we have too many people.

When England had three million population (in Elizabeth's time) it was believed to have too many people—and colonization beyond the seas began. Then England gained 13 times three million people in its tight little isle, and became more prosperous than ever.

When the United States had reached a population of 50 millions, fear was expressed that there were "too many people."

But the United States gained a new peak of prosperity when the 50 millions more than doubled. As 100 million people and goods were added, prosperity began to taper off.

Now the United States has "too many people" (we hear), although thousands and thousands of acres of land lie dormant and much factory space and costly machines are idle.

There is a hitch somewhere. Maybe we have the cart before the horse.

DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE WONDERING HOW TO HANDLE GOVERNOR TALMADGE

WASHINGTON—Although the official business of the Democratic National Committee meeting here is to arrange for the June convention, the Committee's real concern is Governor Gene Talmadge of Georgia. The question is what to do about him if he should appear with credentials and ask to be seated.

Following the death of Major John Cohen, Atlanta publisher and ardent Rooseveltite, Talmadge elected himself and Mrs. Susan T. Moore, one of his followers, to the National Committee.

Under party rules only the National Committee itself has the power to elect or remove members of the body. Ordinarily, however, when a State Committee designates a successor to a deceased member, the National Committee approves his credentials as a routine matter.

But with Talmadge and Mrs. Moore, the situation is different. The red-gallused fire-eater of Georgia is one of Roosevelt's bitterest foes. Among organization Democrats he is anathema.

Ever since Talmadge set himself up as National Committeeman, certain Administrationites have been devising schemes to crack down on him.

Their most favored plan is this: When Talmadge presents his credentials, they would be referred to a credentials committee which would promptly bury them on the excuse of giving "careful consideration." By this strategy Talmadge would be "legally" barred from admittance to the present meeting.

DOUBTFUL

While eager to strafe Talmadge, some of the Democratic moguls on whom the proposed plan has been strongly pressed are doubtful of its wisdom. They say the spanking would be too obvious, would enable Gene to raise the cry of "persecution."

What the party chiefs want to avoid above all is the note of disharmony. As much as they hate Talmadge, they prefer to seat him and Mrs. Moore now, wait for a more opportune occasion to "give him the works."

ELECTION BET

President Roosevelt and Senator Bill Borah have entered into a solemn agreement to take each other for a ride.

It happened this way: Borah sat one seat from the President at a recent White House dinner. Roosevelt leaned over and joshed the Senator about his campaign.

"I'll tell you what I'll do, Senator," said Roosevelt, "If you are elected President you take me for a ride on the Potomac (the new Presidential yacht). If I am re-elected I promise to take you on a ride."

"It's a deal, Mr. President," said Borah, "only don't forget YOUR part of the bargain."

CHAPTER 40

"DELIA WAS right then, wasn't she?" I questioned, picking up the letter that concerned Grace. Mrs. Starbuck did come into the kitchen yesterday between 5 and 6 o'clock.

"She did, Mrs. Penny," admitted Grace, "but I lied because I didn't want her accused of taking that knife."

"By the way, about this Mrs. Rippe for whom you worked? Is she still in the kitchen? I hoped she was in some inaccessible place where Larrabee couldn't get hold of her."

"She died there a few years ago. I saw the notice in the papers."

"That was a relief. Now Larrabee couldn't question her. I could give him her letter of recommendation about Grace without fear. I started to the door but Grace wasn't ready to go yet."

"Mrs. Penny, there's something I want to tell you. I didn't say anything about it last night because I felt too bad to talk. You're not going to like what I'm going to say."

"Well?"

"It's about Mrs. Upham—and I thought you should be the first to know."

I stiffened. What did Grace know about Lucy? Why did she think I should be the first to know? Was it about Dr. Rudeman? Was it something Lucy had done the night Andrew Darlen was killed when Grace was sleeping in the room next to hers?

"I didn't say anything to you yesterday afternoon because she was there and she would have told Lieutenant Larrabee. But Mrs. Upham was in the kitchen about five minutes in all, talking to me, showing me the jacket. You know she's always friendly. Grace was right, clearly. Often in the afternoon, she looked in the kitchen and chatted with Grace and Delia."

"Delia was upstairs between 5 and 5:30, straightening up, so she wasn't there when most of the people came in and went out. Well, Mrs. Upham asked me the first to know. I saw her do it. I didn't think anything about it at the time, because she poked around while she's talking, and it seemed natural to me. When the knife was missing I thought about it, and was afraid. Not that Mrs. Upham would—anyway. She wouldn't as far as I know, but opening the drawer—"

"You may be mistaken, Grace."

"No. I distinctly saw her open the drawer, and then close it."

"You didn't see her take anything from it?"

"No, but she had the jacket over her arm. She could have hidden the knife under the jacket and I wouldn't have known the difference. I'm not saying she did, because I didn't see her. But I thought you ought to know."

Yes, I ought to know. I heard myself say, faintly. I also heard myself say that Mrs. Upham wouldn't take the knife under any circumstances. She had probably opened drawers hundreds of times in the kitchen and bathed the knife. What if she meant nothing, what if she was thinking of what the doctor had told me about Lucy, and hoping that Grace wouldn't see the anxiety that would be written all over my face.

"And another thing. It may not be important, but Delia was in love with Mr. Hemingway."

"Delia—in love?" I exclaimed. Grace nodded.

"She used to rave and rave about him—silly like, about him being her ideal. When he smiled at her she was awfully happy. I think it was the first time she'd ever been in love. I told her time and time again she'd have to fight it—and she said she'd try. I didn't want her to get into trouble—she was such a child, and I didn't trust Mr. Hemingway. Delia wasn't any better, but—well, you never can tell about women."

"Did Mr. Hemingway ever give her any encouragement?"

"I don't know. Tuesday morning, before the—before we found out about Mr. Darlen, Delia was singing and whistling all the time she was in the kitchen."

"I lied because I didn't want her accused of taking that knife."

In the kitchen with me. She seemed happier than usual. She told me that the night before she'd found a pair of gloves in Mr. Hemingway's overcoat in the downstairs hall closet, and she'd taken them because she found a button missing. She was going to sew it on.

"She showed them to me—they were in her apron pocket, and asked me if there was a button in the house that would match the other. I said I didn't think so—I didn't have one, but you might in your sewing box. She said she'd look."

"She didn't steal the gloves, Mrs. Penny. I want you to know that. Delia was too honest to steal, but she took them to sew on the button. She always wanted to do things for Mr. Hemingway. I guess, a foolish idea, but she was foolish about her love for Mr. Hemingway. She'd done that before—taken things from his room and his laundry bag, mended them and put them back. She always wanted to do things for him. If you know what I mean, like a child she'd come and tell me what she had done."

"But she didn't sew the button on, Grace, did she?"

I knew, she hadn't because the gloves had been found in her room with the button still missing. Grace didn't know that, because the only persons who knew were the police, myself and Mr. Hemingway. He had been questioned about the gloves in Delia's room, and although he admitted he couldn't do things for him, if you know what I mean, like a child she'd come and tell me what she had done."

"She hadn't yesterday afternoon, because she said she'd rummaged around in your sewing box and couldn't find a button to match. She wanted to go out and buy one, but of course she couldn't—what had happened, and all. Yesterday afternoon she still had the gloves in the pocket of her uniform."

I considered what Grace had told me. It had seemed foolish to me when Larrabee grilled Mr. Hemingway about the gloves. Why if he had murdered Delia, had he left his gloves behind as a clue? No sense to that. If he had worn his gloves into her room to do away with fingerprints, had murdered Delia, he most certainly would have taken the gloves away with him. No murderer would be so careless as to leave his own gloves in a room of death.

But now it was different. Delia was the one who had taken the gloves from Hemingway's overcoat pocket in the hall closet. From

Monday evening until yesterday afternoon they had been with the girl. Wasn't it natural that the gloves should have been in her uniform pocket when Larrabee and I took her upstairs? I hadn't noticed them, but they must have been there. They might have fallen to the floor when she undressed. They might have been disturbed by the murderer.

"A thought came to my mind, and I put another question to Grace. 'Do you think that Delia would have admitted Mr. Hemingway to her room?'"

"I don't know that, Mrs. Penny. You mean last night? And that he murdered her?"

"I mean just that."

Larrabee and I had discussed the admittance of someone into the room. Someone Delia knew. Because I didn't know of Delia's affection for Hemingway, I didn't consider that she had let a man into her room. Besides I was grasping a straw that would lead me away from Lucy. Anything.

"Delia was in her nightgown when we found her, Grace. Would she have let in Mr. Hemingway. 'She didn't have a wrapper or a bathrobe, Mrs. Penny. Maybe you didn't know, but she didn't. She was making one but it wasn't finished.' I didn't know, but I was glad to find out. That explained quite a bit. I continued."

"You know her better than I did. Do you think if Mr. Hemingway knocked on her door, called to her, that she would have gone to the door dressed in her nightgown?"

"She might have gone to the door, opened it a little to talk to him. I'm almost sure she would answer him, Mrs. Penny. Then he might have pushed the door wider and entered. Yes, I think that is possible."

That was assuming Mr. Hemingway didn't know his gloves were in Delia's room. If Grace was right, he didn't. I was sure Grace was right. It was simpler, much simpler to imagine him going into Delia's room without knowledge of the gloves. The gloves had bothered me a good deal.

"I'm going to tell Lieutenant Larrabee that Grace, because I think he ought to know—at least about the gloves, and Delia taking them. He can draw his own conclusions. He'll ask you questions about Delia, and I want you to tell him what you've told me."

Poems That Live

THE LAND OF STORY-BOOKS

At evening when the lamp is lit,
Around the fire my parents sit;
They sit at home and talk and sing,
And do not play at anything.

Now, with my little gun, I crawl
All in the dark along the wall,
And follow round the forest track
Away behind the sofa back.

There, in the night, where none
can spy,
All in my hunter's camp I lie,
And play at books that I have read.

Till it is time to go to bed,
I see the others far away
As if in firelit camp they lay,
And I, like to an Indian scout,
Around their party prowled about.

So, when my nurse comes in for me,
Home I return across the sea,
And go to bed with backward looks.

At my dear land of Story-books.

The halter neckline and uneven hemline are other interesting details.

The last word smartness is a beige sheer wool costume with a three-quarter length, flared coat with a collar of beige fox. The dress has a copper colored suede belt with a brown buckle, and the skirt has box pleats.

BISHOPS START DRIVE TOWARD NEW BAA CROWN

Wesleyan Crew Gains 37-25 Victory Over Ohio U.; Western Reserve Wins

COLUMBUS, Jan. 9.—(UP)—Ohio Wesleyan today appeared on its way to another Buckeye conference record as a result of its 37-25 victory over Ohio university last night.

The victory enabled Wesleyan to make a successful opening of its title defense and marked the 15th consecutive triumph for the Bishops over Buckeye foes. Wesleyan won the final four conference games of its 1935-36 schedule, and swept through its eight league games last season.

When the Bishops won the title for the second straight time last season, they became the first team to accomplish the feat. And victory last night definitely established Coach Ray Detrick's unit as the prime favorite in the Buckeye.

Took Early Lead

Wesleyan jumped into an early lead in the contest and at half-time led 15 to 10. Shortly after the second period started Ohio U. went into a 19 to 16 lead.

The advantage of the Bobcats was short-lived as Ernie Talos, Wesleyan guard, broke through with two field goals and a foul to put the Bishops into a lead they never relinquished. Talos with 11 points paced Wesleyan's attack. Rinta scored nine for Ohio U.

Reserve In Victory

Western Reserve's powerful team continued its victory march with an easy 56 to 43 victory over John Carroll.

RUTH DEFEATS DEAN

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Jan. 9.—(UP)—Babe Ruth settled an old score yesterday when he defeated Ed Dean, St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, in 18 holes of golf.

Playing in a sweltering heat that saw the Bambino strip to the waist before the match was half finished, the former Sultan of Swat turned in an 84, one under Dean's card.

Paul Waner, Pittsburgh Pirate outfielder, clicked off an 81 to walk away with the major league baseball players' pool. Lloyd Brown, Cleveland pitcher, shot an 85.

The word mortician is a derivative of the Latin word death.

O'MAHONEY IS TOSSED TO MAT BY FRENCH GRAPPLER

HOLYOKE, Mass., Jan. 9.—(UP)—After flattening Danno O'Mahoney twice in an informal wrestling bout last night, Yvon Robert, French—Canadian claimed the world's wrestling championship held by the Irishman.

Robert pinned O'Mahoney with a legitimate toss and then knocked him cold with a punch in an unscheduled melee that precipitated a riot.

O'Mahoney was scheduled to meet Frank Judson of New York, whom he threw in straight falls in 34 minutes. Before the regular bout started, Robert, the titleholder's most persistent challenger, was introduced from the ring, instead of leaving, he doffed his overcoat, a sweater and trousers, emerging in wrestling trunks.

Without warning he leaped for O'Mahoney, but police interfered. Throughout the Judson-O'Mahoney contest, Robert, and his manager, Eddie Quinn heckled the champion unmercifully from ring side seats. This made the Irishman furious. After the match, he was said to have shouted at Robert: "I'll take you some day. The sooner the better. Other ringsters claim O'Mahoney demanded an immediate showdown.

Walter Schaeffer, 25, exercise boy, was found not guilty late last night by a jury of 12 men who deliberated only one hour and forty-five minutes. The verdict brought a rousing cheer from the crowd-jammed court room.

Sensational testimony implicating Saunders and Schaeffer was given by Mrs. Agatha Mackison, 19, who made the rounds of Louisville night spots with Mrs. Slivinsky and the racketeer figures on the night of Oct. 20.

ANOTHER STAR ELEVEN TO MEET PRO ATHLETES

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(UP)—An all-star college eleven, recruited from all sections of the country, will play the New York Giants, eastern division champions of the National Professional Football league, here next fall under the promotion of the New York Herald Tribune, it was announced today.

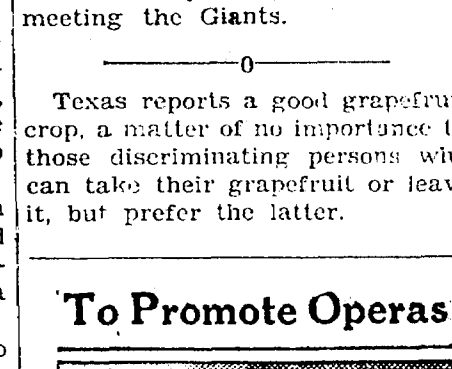

Profits from the game, which has been tentatively set for Sept. 9, will go to the Herald-Tribune's fresh air fund for underprivileged children. It probably will be played at the new Tri-Borough stadium on Randall's Island.

Players and coaches of the college team will be selected in a nation-wide poll. Only players who have completed their under-graduate careers will be eligible.

The Herald Tribune will cooperate with the Chicago Tribune, which has conducted similar games the past two years in Chicago between the Chicago Bears and all-star college teams. The Chicago paper again will stage its game this fall between the Detroit Lions, professional champions, and a college team. After that game, the collegians will move to New York to join other players for about 10 days of practice before meeting the Giants.

The two have dedicated themselves to see that opera is produced, under the auspices of their organization, all over America. The public demands it, they say.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. A. SHEPHARD, Famous Bridge Teacher

MANY PREFER DUPLICATE

DURING THE past five years, more than ever before, thousands of players have almost abandoned rubber bridge for duplicate. Big as Cleveland is, often it is difficult to obtain a good rubber game, as duplicate is run every afternoon and evening in innumerable clubs. No village is too small to support a duplicate game. Among the many letters advocating more attention for duplicate none more warmly supports duplicate than one from Mr. E. A. Black, Akron, O. Today we have two successful hands played by Mr. Black, in which he and his partner gained top score by pushing their momentary lucky streak to the limit.

Bidding went: North (dealer), 1-Heart; South, 1-Spade; North, 3-Clubs; South, 3-Diamonds; North, 5-Spades, urging a slam contract; South, 6-Spades, which was a very generous contract, but not an unreasonable one.

With such bidding West's best lead was a trump, to attempt cutting down cross-ruffs and avoiding assisting declarer by leading a side suit that had been bid, but the opening lead was the J of diamonds, going to declarer's Q. The J of clubs was returned.

West covered and the K won, establishing the suit. The 3 of trumps was led. East ducked and the Q won. East was forced to play his Ace on a return lead of a low spade, establishing the entire hand for a small slam, as all declarer's losers could be discarded on dummy's good clubs. That was the first piece of luck, but more was to come on the second deal, shown below.

♠ K 7 6

Bidding went: North, 1-Diamond; East, 1-Spade; North, doubled; East, 2-Clubs; South, 2-Hearts, which was a fine call; West, 3-Clubs; North, 4-Clubs, to show powerful support for hearts and no losers in clubs; South, 4-Hearts; North, 5-Hearts; East, 6-Clubs, fairly pushing opponents into a small slam; North, 6-Hearts, that West doubled, expecting considerable revenue, but all his side won was the Ace of hearts.

The opening lead was the 9 of spades, going to declarer's K. The return was a trump and West had to give away his possession of the Q, by playing the Ace. When dummy was put in with the top spade, trumps were picked up and it was all over.

WAY CONTEST LOOMING IN CAMPAIGN FOR SHERIFF

FRANK KLINE, JR. GIVEN PETITION; G. O. P. IS QUIET

Local Man to Provide Opposition for Sheriff Radcliff and Crawford

At least a 3-way fight for the Democratic nomination for sheriff was seen today as Frank H. "Timmy" Kline, Jr., S. Court-st., obtained a petition from Harry E. Weill, deputy clerk of the board of elections.

Mr. Kline has made no statement concerning his candidacy and could not be reached by telephone, since he was at work. The candidate is employed by Helvering and Schenberg and spends much of his time in the rural sections of the county.

His name is placed beside those of Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff, who announced his candidacy Wednesday, and Gilbert Crawford of Darbyville, who tossed his hat into the ring last Saturday. Mr. Crawford, however, has not yet obtained his nominating petition.

Mr. Kline is well-known in the city and county. He is a member of Trinity Lutheran church, and for a number of years was a member of some of the best basketball teams the Circleville Athletic club boasted. He is married and father of two children.

No activity has yet been seen on the Republican side of the county political race, but from indications there is going to be plenty of action among the Democrats.

He was riotously cheered and applauded at each of many rapturous thrusts at opposing forces the audience seemed to have no trouble in recognizing.

Sought Human Rights

"Jackson sought social justice and fought for human rights in his many battles to protect the people against autocratic or oligarchic aggression," Mr. Roosevelt said.

"If at times his passionate devotion to this cause of the average citizen lent an amazing zeal to his thoughts, his speech, and his actions the people loved him for it the more. They realized the intensity of the attacks by his enemies, by those who, thrust from power and position, pursued him with relentless hatred. The beneficiaries of the abuses to which he put an end pursued him with all the violence that political passion can generate. But the people of his day were not deceived."

Mr. Roosevelt paused amid a faint ripple of gathering applause, then added:

"They loved him for the enemies he had made."

Hand-clapping, cheers, shrill whistles rang through the hotel ballroom and out through the microphones into the living rooms of the nation.

Mr. Roosevelt pointed out that Jackson was backed not only by his own party, but "by thousands who had belonged to other parties, or belonged to no party at all." This, coupled with other portions of his speech, became an invitation to Republicans and members of other political parties to join the new deal cause.

Continuing, he said Jackson was forced to fight "every inch" for his ideals.

"An overwhelming proportion of the material power of the country was arrayed against him. The great media for the dissemination of information and the moulding of public opinion fought him. Haughty and sterile intellectualism opposed him. Musty reaction disapproved him. Hollow and outworn traditionalism shook a trembling finger at him. It seemed that sometimes all were against him."

Again Mr. Roosevelt paused, a split second of silence that focused an intense attention upon his next words: "All but the people of the United States."

"As I understand the temper of the people, particularly the temper of youth, no party of reaction, no candidates of reaction, can fulfill the hope and faith of that spirit."

"The people of America knew the heart and the purpose of their government."

"We will not retreat."

FLUSH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste, poisonous matter may develop, causing serious trouble. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, which have been used successfully by millions of people for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to flush out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes. Get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist.

HOUSE HURRIES TO VOTE RELIEF

Finance Committee Holding Up $10,000,000 Measure

COLUMBUS, Jan. 9—(UP)—Whether the $10,000,000 Marlow-Kilpatrick poor relief bill comes up for final consideration today in the House of Representatives, depends on whether the House finance committee approves the measure.

When the House adjourned yesterday, it was hoped by the leaders that the relief bill could be disposed of today, despite the delay in committee.

Democratic floor leader Frank Uible requested that all the representatives be present today, because it was planned to have the relief measure brought up for passage.

The bill was referred to a subcommittee of three members of the finance committee to have amendments prepared, in co-operation with the authors of the measure, designed to remove minor objections raised by committee members.

The House yesterday passed two of the important social security measures to make the state laws relating to mothers' pensions, aid for needy dependent children, and aid and vocational rehabilitation for crippled children, conform with the federal social security act.

The two bills, sent to the Senate for consideration, would appropriate $2,230,000 from the state general revenue fund for these purposes, and at the same time enable Ohio to qualify for $2,200,000 of federal funds. Both were passed as emergency measures.

It is obtained by separating the isotopes of Lithium, lightest of elements, and is being used to form atomic projectiles in atom-smashing experiments.
